#	OTHER (PLEASE SPECIFY)	DATE
1	Aquatic plants, appears more natural plants this year vs. Last year	8/28/2020 9:02 PM
2	Less plants not sure if that means worse or improved	8/27/2020 7:26 PM
3	There seems to have been a decrease in native aquatic plants. Which as you know is good for fish habitation.	8/26/2020 11:24 AM
4	I'm not a fan of milfoil, but I miss the native weeds off of the point and the negative effect on fishing.	8/25/2020 2:05 PM
5	The amount of aquatic plants seems to have dropped, which makes us concerned about fish habitat.	8/25/2020 11:12 AM
6	Some plants have increased and some have decreased.	8/22/2020 9:36 AM
7	Not sure what you mean by aquatic plants - are they the good kind? We have had EWM exploding around our dock/boatlift.	8/20/2020 12:23 PM
8	JET SKIES	8/17/2020 10:48 AM
9	"amount of aquatic plants" questions does not state if more is better or worse. From our perspective, more is better	8/17/2020 8:47 AM
10	Weeds an aquatic plants are vital to the lake and habitat quality.	8/16/2020 5:16 PM
11	Difficult to answer the aquatic plant question. I think it's lower than 5 years ago. Some will say that means improvement. However, fish require health aquatic plants so I answered worse.	8/16/2020 9:39 AM
